

Fiore Films looking for an indigenous consultant to advise on the set of a local documentary film.

Local film production company Fiore Films is currently producing a documentary on the reintegration of ex-offenders in Victoria, B.C. We will be interviewing indigenous ex-offenders and would like to find an indigenous consultant to create a culturally appropriate interview environment. The indigenous consultant would have to ensure that nothing exploitative is used or said during the course of the interview. They would also be responsible for smudging the interview space prior to filming to remove any negative energy. The chosen participant will receive an honorarium for collaborating with the producer of this documentary film. If you are interested in applying for this position please email, Andy Fiore at, afiorefilm@gmail.com. Thank you.
